Please replace claim 28 with the following:

Claim 28: A method for controlling the formation of a seal between ~~of~~ a biological element comprising a membrane and the edges of a through-opening in a support, wherein the biological element is labeled with a tracer that emits a light radiation, the support comprises a layer of a material configured to trap the light radiation by internal reflection, and the through-opening is located in the layer, the method comprising:

- a) forming the seal between the biological element and the edges of the through-opening by creating a low pressure in the through-opening to cause the biological element to partially penetrate the opening;
- b) measuring intensity of light radiation internally reflected in the layer at predetermined distances from the through-opening; and
- c) comparing the intensity thus measured with at least one reference value to determine when the seal is obtained; wherein a) and b) can be carried out successively or simultaneously.
